REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Regarding claims 1-12 and 14, no prior art of reference or combination thereof teaches a remote feeder reactance coil for supplying energy to or withdrawing energy from a high-frequency signal transmission line; the coil comprising an electrically conductive primary winding being connected to the transmission line; and a suppression circuit comprising an electrically conductive secondary winding and a resistive load wherein the suppression circuit introduces the resistive load along a portion of the primary winding, and the resistive load suppresses parasitic resonance frequencies.

Regarding claims 16-22, no prior art of reference or combination thereof teaches a remote feeder reactance coil for supplying energy to, or withdrawing energy from, a high-frequency signal transmission line; the coil comprising an electrically conductive primary winding, which includes a first terminal connected to the transmission line; a suppression circuit including an electrically conductive secondary winding and a resistive load, wherein individual turns of the primary winding maintain close proximity to each other in a first and second portions of the coil, and are spaced from each other in a third portion which extends between said first and second portions.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
